Google Analytics

Our website uses the Google Analytics application x does not use it

If using Google Analytics:

Google Analytics compiles a report for its customers on the habits of website users based on internal cookies.

On behalf of the website operator, Google uses the information to evaluate how users use the website. As an additional service, it prepares reports related to website activity for the website operator so that it can provide additional services.

The data is stored on Google's servers in an encrypted format to make it difficult and prevent misuse of the data.

Disabling Google Analytics can be done as follows. Quote from the site:

Site users who do not want Google Analytics JavaScript to report their data can install a Google Analytics opt-out browser extension. The plugin prevents Google Analytics JavaScript (ga.js, analytics.js, and dc.js) from sending information to Google Analytics. The browser extension can be used in most recent browsers. The Google Analytics blocking browser extension does not prevent data from being sent to the website itself and other internet analytics services.
